PRESIDENT'S COMMENTS

Our new season started in September with an innocent look at commissioning. No one had counted on the degree of controversy which slowly emerged while members of the panel stated their particular area of discontent.

A crucial Canada-Russia hockey game was no incentive to shorten the discussion period. This intense interest caused me to promise further research into commissioning by our chapter. The October technical session prior to our regular program will examine guidelines, documents and effect of commissioning practices to follow up this promise. Your participation may have an important effect on design and construction practices which make commissioning possible.

Simon Jol
Chapter President
